

Tailored wealth management strategies for dentists

– Travis Prewitt

Named to the 2011 list of the “Best Financial Advisers for Dentists” by Dental Practice magazine, The Prewitt Group works with dentists in several states. Team leader Travis Prewitt has more than 30 years’ of experience providing wealth management to the medical community.

Travis notes that, “Dentists are high achievers and should have high expectations for those who serve them. The financial rewards of their careers are delayed by many years of expensive medical training, so it is vital that they make the most of their window for building wealth.”

Team Financial Advisors Travis Prewitt and Brad Desormeau bring in specialists as needed from one of the world’s largest wealth management organizations, and collaborate with the dentist’s other professional advisors. They also understand the time constraints that dentists operate under, so the team works to be efficient and are “on call” to fit the schedules of their clients.

“Delegating your personal finances to a professional adviser can bring value to your long-term future. The best financial advisers can provide the expertise you need to navigate the complex world of financial planning, as well as to meet your long- and short-term goals such as developing a portfolio, having a financial buffer in the event of unexpected events, planning for retirement and paying for college.”
